Subject: Statement to the correct interpretation of the certificates for ventilation units issued by Passive House Institute

Dear Sirs,

The characteristic values listed in the certificates (e.g. heat recovery rate, electrical power consumption etc.) are only guaranteed in the certified airflow range specified in the certificate. The airflow range is defined by the minimum and maximum airflow and the maximum external pressure.

The complete list of all certified components with their characteristic values can be found under: <https://database.passivehouse.com/en/components/>

Kind regards

Passivhaus Institut GmbH
